(“TTGI” or the “Company”) in any jurisdiction. The information contained in this presentation has been prepared by TTGI as of April 3, 2026 and is subject to change without notice.

CONFIDENTIALITY AND NO LIABILITY

This presentation contains confidential and proprietary information of TTGI. By receiving or viewing this material, you agree not to share or disclose its contents without TTGI’s prior written consent.

While TTGI strives to ensure the accuracy and timeliness of the information presented, it makes no guarantees, express or implied, as to its completeness or correctness. TTGI disclaims any liability for losses or damages resulting from reliance on this information.

FORWARD-LOOKING STATEMENTS

This presentation contains “forward-looking information” and “forward-looking statements” within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities laws, including the Securities Act (British Columbia) and other provincial legislation, which may involve estimates, projections, and other statements subject to risks and uncertainties under the heading “Risks and Uncertainties” below, among others. These statements reflect TTGI’s current expectations regarding future events, performance, and operating results, but actual results may differ materially from those expressed or implied due to known and unknown risks, uncertainties, and other factors. Such statements include, but are not limited to, TTGI’s business, financial performance and expectations thereof, business, growth and/or acquisition strategies and opportunities, and market outlook.

This presentation includes information, statements, beliefs and opinions which are forward-looking pursuant to United States Securities laws, and which reflect current estimates, expectations and projections about future events referred to herein and which constitute “forward-looking statements” (within the meaning of Section 27A of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended and Section 21E of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended).

These statements are identified by terms such as “anticipates,” “believes,” “expects,” “intends,” “plans,” “forecasts,” “may,” “will,” “could,” “would,” and similar expressions. Forward-looking statements are based on management’s current expectations and assumptions, including general economic and market conditions, TTGI’s ability to execute its business strategy, that there will be no unforeseen delays, disruptions, or market forces negatively affecting our business operations, that market conditions for wireless technologies will align with expected trends, and that no regulation or law will arise that prevents us from operating our business. While these assumptions are believed to be reasonable, actual results may differ materially due to risks and uncertainties.

FUTURE-ORIENTED FINANCIAL INFORMATION

To the extent any forward-looking statement in this presentation constitutes “future-oriented financial information” or “financial outlooks” within the meaning of applicable Canadian securities laws, including statements regarding the growth in our revenues, revenues associated with new and recurring customers, our return on market spend, future gross profit, operating expenses, Adjusted EBITDA and operating free cash flow and as with forward-looking statements generally, they are, without limitation, based on the assumptions and subject to the risks and uncertainties under the heading “Risks and Uncertainties” below, among others.

The foregoing list of assumptions is not exhaustive. Although TTGI believes that these assumptions were reasonable when made, because these assumptions are subject to significant uncertainties and contingencies which are difficult or impossible to predict and are beyond the Company’s control, and TTGI cannot assure that the projections described in the forward-looking statements will be achieved. The process for estimating the Company’s growth rate and customer retention, order volume, revenue and operating expenses and other future oriented financial information requires the use of judgment in determining the appropriate assumptions and estimates. These estimates and assumptions may be revised as additional information becomes available and as additional analyses are performed. In addition, the assumptions used in planning may not prove to be accurate, and other events and factors may materially affect the Company’s financial condition or results of operations.

The purpose of the financial outlooks included herein are to provide information about management’s current expectations and plans relating to the future. The information may not be appropriate for other purposes. The Company’s actual financial position and results of operations may differ materially from management’s current expectations and, as a result, the Company’s growth rate and customer retention, order volume, revenue and other future oriented financial information may differ materially from what is provided in this presentation. Such information is presented for illustrative purposes only and may not be an indication of the Company’s actual financial position or results of operations. Any financial outlook or future oriented financial information in this document, as defined by applicable securities legislation, has been approved by management of the Company. Such financial outlook or future oriented financial information is provided for the purpose of providing information about management’s current expectations and management’s plans relating to the future of the Company. Accordingly, readers should not place undue reliance on such financial outlook or future oriented financial information, which are fully qualified by this cautionary statement. These statements are made as of the date of this presentation, and we do not undertake any obligation to update such financial outlook or future oriented financial information, except as required by applicable securities laws.

Disclaimers

NON-IFRS MEASURES

This presentation uses certain non-IFRS measures to evaluate the performance of the Company. The term “EBITDA” and Adjusted Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization (“Adjusted EBITDA”) do not have any standardized meaning prescribed within International Financial Reporting Standards (“IFRS”) and therefore may not be comparable to similar measures presented by other companies. We believe that EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA, when taken together with the corresponding IFRS financial measures, provide meaningful supplemental information regarding our performance by excluding certain items that may not be indicative of our business, results of operations, or outlook. We consider EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA to be important measures because they help illustrate underlying trends in our business and our historical operating performance on a more consistent basis. We believe that the use of EBITDA and Adjusted EBITDA is helpful to our investors as they are used by management in assessing the health of our business, our operating performance, and our liquidity.

However, non-IFRS financial information is presented for supplemental informational purposes only, has limitations as an analytical tool, and should not be considered in isolation or as a substitute for financial information presented in accordance with IFRS. In addition, other companies, including companies in our industry, may calculate similarly-titled non-IFRS financial measures or ratios differently or may use other financial measures or ratios to evaluate their performance, all of which could reduce the usefulness of Adjusted EBITDA as tools for comparison. Investors are encouraged to review our financial statements and disclosures in their entirety and are cautioned not to put undue reliance on any non-IFRS financial measure and view it in conjunction with the most comparable IFRS financial measures. In evaluating non-IFRS financial measures, you should be aware that in the future we will continue to incur expenses similar to those adjusted in non-IFRS financial measures.

MARKET AND INDUSTRY DATA

This presentation includes market and industry data derived from publicly available data or other proprietary research and analysis, surveys or studies conducted by third parties and industry and general publications and our internal analysis based thereon. Unless otherwise indicated, information contained in this presentation concerning our industry and markets, including the Company’s general expectations and market position, market opportunity and market size, is based on these various sources. Because this information involves a number of assumptions and limitations, recipients are cautioned not to give undue weight to such information. The Company has not independently verified market data and industry forecasts provided by any third-party sources.

RISKS AND UNCERTAINTIES

There are a number of risks, uncertainties and other factors that could impact the Company’s ability to successfully execute its business strategies and that may cause affect future results, performance or achievements to be materially different from any future results, performance or achievements expressed or implied by forward-looking statements or information contained herein. These factors include, but are not limited to: risks relating to the receipt of all requisite regulatory approvals for the offering of units; changes in interest and currency exchange rates; unanticipated operational difficulties; changes in general economic conditions or conditions in the financial markets; changes in laws; the ability to obtain additional financing as required; and other risk factors as detailed from time to time in the Company’s Management Discussion and Analysis dated December 31, 2025 and other documents available under the Company’s profile at www.sedarplus.ca. This presentation does not constitute and should not be construed as legal, financial, investment, or tax advice.

NO FINANCIAL ADVICE OR INVESTMENT RECOMMENDATION

This presentation does not constitute financial, legal, or tax advice. Investors should conduct their own due diligence and consult their financial, legal, tax and other professional advisors before making any investment decisions. Past performance is not indicative of future results.

SECURITIES LAWS COMPLIANCE

This presentation is not a prospectus or an advertisement and is being provided for information purposes only and does not constitute or form part of, and should not be construed as, an offer or invitation to sell or any solicitation of any offer to purchase or subscribe for any securities of TTGI in Canada, the United States or any other jurisdiction where it is not lawful to do so. Neither this presentation, nor any part of it, nor anything contained or referred to in it, nor the fact of its distribution, should form the basis of or be relied on in connection with or act as an inducement in relation to a decision to purchase or subscribe for or enter into any contract or make any other commitment whatsoever in relation to any securities of TTGI. Neither this presentation nor any part of its contents is to be taken as any form of commitment on the part of the Company to proceed with any transaction or offering and the Company reserves the right to terminate any discussions or negotiations with any prospective investor and to reject any subscription for securities, in whole or in part. In no circumstances will the Company be responsible for any costs, losses or expenses incurred in connection with any appraisal or investigation of the Company. The Customer Technology Gap

Today's fragmented IT market makes it difficult for businesses to find complete technology solutions, leaving them to navigate a range of challenges.

Limited options: Low-cost providers offer basic, DIY services with minimal expertise.
High costs: Premium consultancies deliver expensive, specialized solutions that often lack completeness.
Underserved: Businesses with complex needs struggle to find holistic, scalable, and affordable tech solutions.
Vendor overload: Managing multiple providers wastes time and resources.
Unclear ROI: Difficulty assessing long-term value from tech investments.
Cybersecurity blind spots: Many remain unaware of serious cyber threats

Case Study

Customer Overview: GPG operates as a subsidiary of Naturgy, applying a global approach with pioneering technologies in the energy sector. The company has an installed capacity exceeding 4GW, distributed across 8 countries worldwide.

GPG in need of IT support fixing a CD-ROM drive, today they rely on TTGI's Australian division "Claratti" for the full Technology as a Service Wheel.

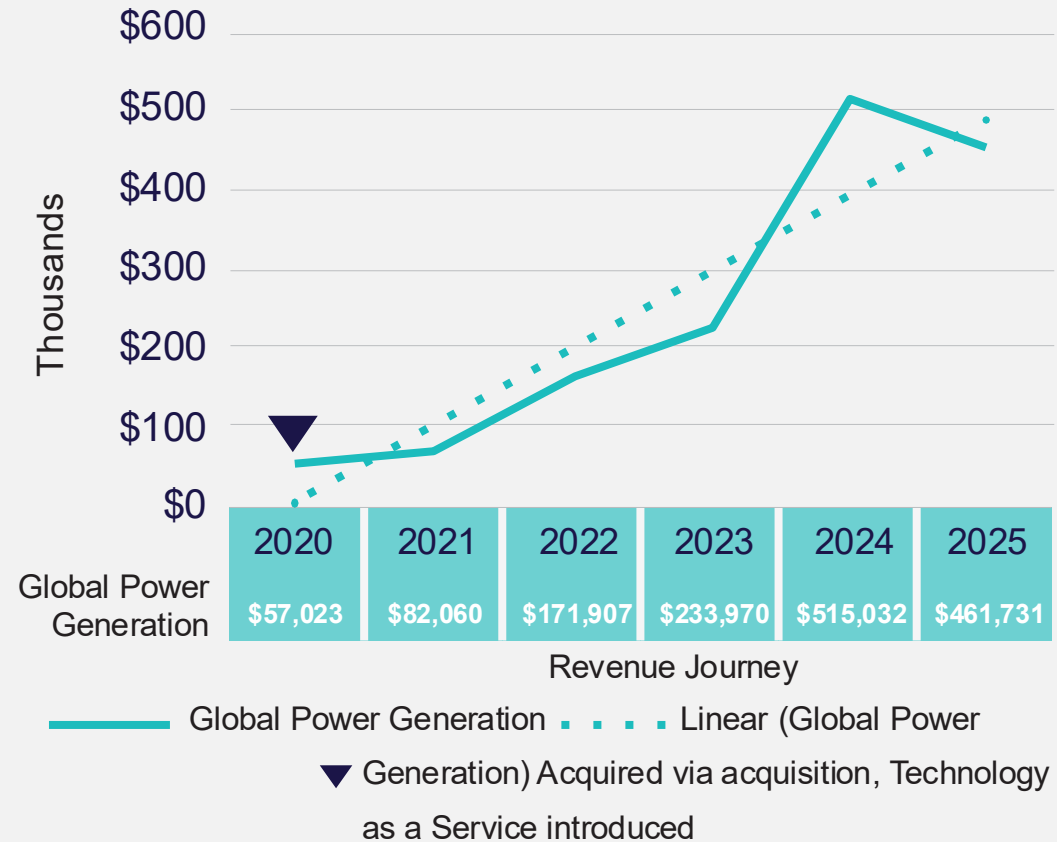

Initial Setup: When GPG engaged they were a very small office with a handful of staff and no internal IT resources.

The Challenge: The challenge GPG would face over the coming years was rapid scale and unprecedented security requirement, securing energy generation, supply and consumption data.

The Solution: Today, GPG operates a complex network at over ten Australian sites, where improved security, reduced costs, streamlined operations, are empowered by TTGI's IT team.

Current State: Every device is now locked down, protected and GPG are able to operate to ISO9001 and ISO27001 standards, ensuring their Australian operations are secure, scalable, productive and growing.

Disclosures

CANADIAN STATUTORY AND CONTRACTUAL RIGHTS OF ACTION

Securities legislation in certain of the provinces of Canada provides purchasers with rights of rescission or damages, or both, where an offering memorandum or any amendment to it contains a misrepresentation. A “misrepresentation” is an untrue statement of a material fact or an omission to state a material fact that is required to be stated or that is necessary to make any statement not misleading in the light of the circumstances in which it was made.

These remedies must be commenced by the purchaser within the time limits prescribed and are subject to the defences contained in the applicable securities legislation. Each purchaser should refer to the provisions of the applicable securities legislation for the particulars of these rights or consult with a legal advisor.

The following rights will only apply to a purchaser of securities in the event that this presentation is deemed to be an offering memorandum pursuant to applicable securities legislation in certain provinces of Canada and are in addition to and without derogation from any other right or remedy which purchasers may have at law and are intended to correspond to the provisions of the relevant securities laws and are subject to the defences contained therein. The following summaries are subject to the express provisions of the applicable securities statutes and instruments in the below-referenced provinces and the regulations, rules and policy statements thereunder and reference is made thereto for the complete text of such provisions.

Ontario Investors

Under Ontario securities legislation, certain purchasers who purchase securities offered by an offering memorandum during the period of distribution will have a statutory right of action for damages or rescission against the issuer or any selling security holder if the offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation without regard to whether the purchasers relied on the misrepresentation. The right of action for damages is exercisable not later than the earlier of 180 days from the date the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action or three years from the date on which payment is made for the securities. The right of action for rescission is exercisable not later than 180 days from the date on which payment is made for the securities. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the issuer or any selling security holder. In no case will the amount recoverable in any action exceed the price at which the securities were offered to the purchaser and if the purchaser is shown to have purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation, the issuer and any selling security holder will have no liability. In the case of an action for damages, the issuer and any selling security holder will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that are proven to not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

These rights are not available for a purchaser that is (a) a Canadian financial institution or a Schedule III Bank (each as defined in National Instrument 45-106 – Prospectus Exemptions), (b) the Business Development Bank of Canada incorporated under the Business Development Bank of Canada Act (Canada), or (c) a subsidiary of any person referred to in paragraphs (a) and (b), if the person owns all of the voting securities of the subsidiary, except the voting securities required by law to be owned by directors of that subsidiary.

These rights and defences are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or defences available at law to an Ontario purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to an Ontario purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer, selling security holder or others may rely are described herein. Ontario purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

Alberta, British Columbia and Québec Investors

By purchasing securities of the Company, purchasers in Alberta, British Columbia and Québec are not entitled to the statutory rights described above. In consideration of their purchase of securities of the Company and upon accepting a purchase confirmation in respect thereof, such purchasers are hereby granted a contractual right of action for damages or rescission that is substantially the same as the statutory right of action provided to residents of Ontario who purchase securities.

Saskatchewan Investors

Under Saskatchewan securities legislation, certain purchasers who purchase securities offered by an offering memorandum during the period of distribution will have a statutory right of action for damages against the issuer, every director and promoter of the issuer or any selling security holder as of the date of the offering memorandum, every person or company whose consent has been filed under the offering memorandum, every person or company that signed the offering memorandum or the amendment to the offering memorandum and every person or company who sells the securities on behalf of the issuer or selling security holder under the offering memorandum, or while still the owner of the securities, for rescission against the issuer or selling security holder if the offering memorandum contains a misrepresentation without regard to whether the purchasers relied on the misrepresentation. The right of action for damages is exercisable not later than the earlier of one year from the date the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action and six years from the date on which payment is made for the securities. The right of action for rescission is exercisable not later than 180 days from the date on which payment is made for the securities.

If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the issuer or the others listed above. In no case will the amount recoverable in any action exceed the price at which the securities were offered to the purchaser and if the purchaser is shown to have purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation, the issuer and the others listed above will have no liability. In the case of an action for damages, the issuer and the others listed above will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that are proven to not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

Other defences in Saskatchewan legislation include that no person or company, other than the issuer, will be liable if the person or company proves that (a) the offering memorandum or any amendment to it was sent or delivered without the person's or company's knowledge or consent and that, on becoming aware of it being sent or delivered, that person or company immediately gave reasonable general notice that it was so sent or delivered, or (b) with respect to any part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to it purporting to be made on the authority of an expert, or purporting to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, an opinion or a statement of an expert, that person or company had no reasonable grounds to believe and did not believe that there had been a misrepresentation, the part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to it did not fairly represent the report, opinion or statement of the expert.

No person or company, other than the issuer or selling security holder, is liable for any part of the offering memorandum or the amendment to the offering memorandum not purporting to be made on the authority of an expert and not purporting to be a copy of or an extract from a report, opinion or statement of an expert, unless the person or company (a) failed to conduct a reasonable investigation sufficient to provide reasonable grounds for a belief that there had been no misrepresentation, or (b) believed there had been a misrepresentation. Similar rights of action for damages and rescission are provided in Saskatchewan legislation in respect of a misrepresentation in advertising and sales literature disseminated in connection with an offering of securities.

Saskatchewan legislation also provides that where an individual makes a verbal statement to a prospective purchaser that contains a misrepresentation relating to the security purchased and the verbal statement is made either before or contemporaneously with the purchase of the security, the purchaser has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a right of action for damages against the individual who made the verbal statement.

In addition, Saskatchewan legislation provides a purchaser with the right to void the purchase agreement and to recover all money and other consideration paid by the purchaser for the securities if the securities are sold by a vendor who is trading in Saskatchewan in contravention of Saskatchewan securities legislation, regulations or a decision of the Financial and Consumer Affairs Authority of Saskatchewan.

The Saskatchewan legislation also provides a right of action for rescission or damages to a purchaser of securities to whom an offering memorandum or any amendment to it was not sent or delivered prior to or at the same time as the purchaser enters into an agreement to purchase the securities, as required by the Saskatchewan legislation. A purchaser who receives an amended offering memorandum has the right to withdraw from the agreement to purchase the securities by delivering a notice to the issuer or selling security holder within two business days of receiving the amended offering memorandum. These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a Saskatchewan purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a Saskatchewan purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer or others may rely are described herein. Saskatchewan purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

Manitoba Investors

If an offering memorandum or any amendment thereto, sent or delivered to a purchaser contains a misrepresentation, the purchaser who purchases the security is deemed to have relied on the misrepresentation if it was a misrepresentation at the time of the purchase and has a statutory right of action for damages against the issuer, every director of the issuer at the date of the offering memorandum, and every person or company who signed the offering memorandum. Alternatively, the purchaser may elect to exercise a statutory right of rescission against the issuer, in which case the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against any of the aforementioned persons.

Unless otherwise provided under applicable securities legislation, no action shall be commenced to enforce any of the foregoing rights more than: (a) in the case of an action for rescission, 180 days from the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action, or (b) in the case of an action for damages, the earlier of (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action, or (ii) two years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action. A purchaser to whom the offering memorandum is required to be sent may rescind the contract to purchase the securities by sending a written notice of rescission to the issuer not later than midnight on the second day, excluding Saturdays, Sunday and holidays, after the purchaser signs the agreement to purchase the securities.

Securities legislation in Manitoba provides a number of limitations and defences to such actions, including:

(a) in an action for rescission or damages, no person or company will be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation;

(b) in an action for damages, no person or company will be liable for all or any portion of the damages that it proves do not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and

(c) in no case will the amount recoverable under the right of action described above exceed the price at which the securities were offered under the offering memorandum.

These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a Manitoba purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a Manitoba purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer or others may rely are described herein. Manitoba purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

New Brunswick Investors

Under New Brunswick securities legislation, certain purchasers who purchase securities offered by an offering memorandum during the period of distribution will have a statutory right of action for damages against the issuer, the selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution is made, every person who was a director of the issuer at the date of the offering memorandum and any person who signed the offering memorandum, or while still the owner of the securities, for rescission against the issuer and the selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution is made in the event that the offering memorandum, or a document incorporated by reference in or deemed incorporated into the offering memorandum, contains a misrepresentation without regard to whether the purchasers relied on the misrepresentation. The right of action for damages is exercisable not later than the earlier of one year from the date the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action and six years from the date on which payment is made for the securities. The right of action for rescission is exercisable not later than 180 days from the date on which payment is made for the securities. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the issuer or any selling security holder. In no case will the amount recoverable in any action exceed the price at which the securities were offered to the purchaser and if the purchaser is shown to have purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation, the issuer and any selling security holder will have no liability. In the case of an action for damages, the issuer and any selling security holder will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that are proven to not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a New Brunswick purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a New Brunswick purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer, selling security holder or others may rely are described herein. New Brunswick purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

Nova Scotia Investors

Under Nova Scotia securities legislation, certain purchasers who purchase securities offered by an offering memorandum during the period of distribution will have a statutory right of action for damages against the issuer or other seller, the directors of the issuer as of the date the offering memorandum and every person who signed the offering memorandum, or while still the owner of the securities, for rescission against the issuer or other seller if the offering memorandum, or a document incorporated by reference in or deemed incorporated into the offering memorandum, contains a misrepresentation without regard to whether the purchasers relied on the misrepresentation. The right of action for damages or rescission is exercisable not later than 120 days from the date on which payment is made for the securities or after the date on which the initial payment for the securities was made where payments subsequent to the initial payment are made pursuant to a contractual commitment assumed prior to, or concurrently with, the initial payment. If a purchaser elects to exercise the right of action for rescission, the purchaser will have no right of action for damages against the issuer or other seller, the directors of the issuer or a person who signed the offering memorandum. In no case will the amount recoverable in any action exceed the price at which the securities were offered to the purchaser and if the purchaser is shown to have purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation, the issuer or other seller, the directors and every person who signed the offering memorandum will have no liability. In the case of an action for damages, the issuer or other seller, the directors of the issuer and every person who signed the offering memorandum will not be liable for all or any portion of the damages that are proven to not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon.

In addition, a person or company, other than the issuer, is not liable with respect to any part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum not purporting (a) to be made on the authority of an expert or (b) to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, opinion or statement of an expert, unless the person or company (i) failed to conduct a reasonable investigation to provide reasonable grounds for a belief that there had been no misrepresentation or (ii) believed that there had been a misrepresentation.

A person or company, other than the issuer, will not be liable if that person or company proves that (a) the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum was sent or delivered to the purchaser without the person's or company's knowledge or consent and that, on becoming aware of its delivery, the person or company gave reasonable general notice that it was delivered without the person's or company's knowledge or consent, (b) after delivery of the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum and before the purchase of the securities by the purchaser, on becoming aware of any misrepresentation in the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum, the person or company withdrew the person's or company's consent to the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum, and gave reasonable general notice of the withdrawal and the reason for it, or (c) with respect to any part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum purporting (i) to be made on the authority of an expert, or (ii) to be a copy of, or an extract from, a report, an opinion or a statement of an expert, the person or company had no reasonable grounds to believe and did not believe that (A) there had been a misrepresentation, or (B) the relevant part of the offering memorandum or any amendment to the offering memorandum did not fairly represent the report, opinion or statement of the expert, or was not a fair copy of, or an extract from, the report, opinion or statement of the expert.

These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a Nova Scotia purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a Nova Scotia purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer or other seller or others may rely are described herein. Nova Scotia purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

Prince Edward Island Investors

If an offering memorandum, together with any amendment thereto, is delivered to a purchaser and the offering memorandum, or any amendment thereto, contains a misrepresentation, a purchaser has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a statutory right of action for damages against (a) the issuer, (b) the selling security holder on whose behalf the distribution is made, (c) subject to certain additional defences, against every director of the issuer at the date of the offering memorandum and (d) every person or company who signed the offering memorandum, but may elect to exercise the right of rescission against the issuer or selling security holder (in which case the purchaser shall have no right of action for damages against the aforementioned persons or company). No action shall be commenced to enforce the right of action discussed above more than: (a) in the case of an action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or (b) in the case of any action for damages, the earlier of: (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action; or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

Securities legislation in Prince Edward Island provides a number of limitations and defences to such actions, including:

- (a) no person or company will be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation;
- (b) in an action for damages, the defendant is not liable for all or any portion of the damages that it proves does not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and
- (c) in no case shall the amount recoverable under the right of action described herein exceed the price at which the securities were offered under the offering memorandum, or any amendment thereto.

These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a Prince Edward Island purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a Prince Edward Island purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer or other seller or others may rely are described herein. Prince Edward Island purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.

Newfoundland and Labrador Investors

If an offering memorandum, together with any amendment thereto and any documents incorporated by reference in or considered to be incorporated into an offering memorandum, contains a misrepresentation, a purchaser has, without regard to whether the purchaser relied on the misrepresentation, a statutory right of action for damages against (a) the issuer, (b) subject to certain additional defences, against every director of the issuer at the date of the offering memorandum and (c) every person who signed the offering memorandum, but may elect to exercise the right of rescission against the issuer (in which case the purchaser shall have no right of action for damages against the aforementioned persons). No action shall be commenced to enforce the right of action discussed above more than: (a) in the case of an action for rescission, 180 days after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action; or (b) in the case of any action for damages, the earlier of: (i) 180 days after the purchaser first had knowledge of the facts giving rise to the cause of action; or (ii) three years after the date of the transaction that gave rise to the cause of action.

Securities legislation in Newfoundland and Labrador provides a number of limitations and defences to such actions, including:

- (a) no person will be liable if it proves that the purchaser purchased the securities with knowledge of the misrepresentation;
- (b) in an action for damages, the defendant is not liable for all or any portion of the damages that it proves does not represent the depreciation in value of the securities as a result of the misrepresentation relied upon; and
- (c) in no case shall the amount recoverable under the right of action described herein exceed the price at which the securities were offered under the offering memorandum, or any amendment thereto.

These rights are in addition to, and without derogation from, any other rights or remedies available at law to a Newfoundland and Labrador purchaser. The foregoing is a summary of the rights available to a Newfoundland and Labrador purchaser. Not all defences upon which an issuer or other seller or others may rely are described herein. Newfoundland and Labrador purchasers should refer to the complete text of the relevant statutory provisions.
